constatamos la extraordinaria importancia que el estudio de la genealogía implica para el mejor conocimiento del mundo medieval. Nos encontramos con una sociedad de carácter estamental regida por diversos linajes todos ellos interconectados entre sí. Todo el entramado social que late por debajo de ellos está constituido por un conjunto de familias de segundo rango también interconectadas entre sí y con las ramas segundogénitas de las superiores. Pero además el mundo medieval no funciona con los esquemas que nuestro mundo moderno impone. Allí no existen y es inútil buscarlas las diferencias ideológicas entre quienes se disputan el poder. Los grupos de presión y los partidos pues también en aquellos tiempos existían aunque sin estos nombres no se forman por afinidades ideológicas sino por comunidades de intereses basadas en la inmensa mayoría de los casos en los lazos de sangre. El hombre medieval por tanto cuando busca el poder y la riqueza lo hace fundándose en sus relaciones familiares y cuando estas son insuficientes las persigue a través del establecimiento de un vínculo matrimonial ya sea para uno de sus hijos o para él mismo con la finalidad de heredar un patrimonio o redondear el suyo ya sea para buscar un aliado contra terceros ya sea en el caso de los monarcas para establecer o consolidar relaciones con los reinos vecinos.
