For the last thirteen years the Chicago Section of the Society for Applied Spectroscopy has sponsored a symposium in the spring of each year In this span the symposia have shown a steady increase in attendance in the number of papers presented in the number of sessions and in the number of days the conference lasted The duration of the most recent symposium was four days with sessions devoted to molecular spectroscopy including infrared Raman ultraviolet and visible and to X ray NMR emission and flame spectroscopy respectively with a special session devoted to gas chromatography because of its growing interest in applied spectroscopic work Another feature of this last symposium was the attempt on part of the Symposium Committee to establish and maintain the scientific level at that of applied physics This should place the present symposium at a level somewhere between that of the Ohio State symposium and that of the Pittsburgh meeting thus approaching the level of applied chemical physics In addition the symposium was designed to offer to scientists from other disciplines and students an opportunity to attend introductory panels and lectures and at the same time the mature investigators a meeting ground and the chance to keep abreast of the latest developments in spectroscopy How well these aims have been accomplished is best attested to by the phenomenal growth of the symposium

Offering a penetrating analysis that unpacks the relationships between political violence international policy and international law and explores international practice in more than 30 civil conflicts this book challenges many assumptions we hold about the dividing line between domestic and international affairs whether democracy is an international norm and how long the international community is prepared to sit on the sidelines and allow ruthless political violence to determine political leadership in nations This book fills an important void and captures the complexities and tensions inherent in an area where practice has moved faster than theory and pragmatism clashes with idealism    *1970 Census of Population and Housing.
