Biohybrid Systems Ranu Jung,2012-09-19 The discipline of neurodesign is a highly interdisciplinary one while at the same time in the process of maturing towards real life applications The breakthrough about to be achieved is to close the loop in communication between neural systems and electronic and mechatronic systems and actually let the nervous system adapt to the feedback from the man made systems To master this loop scientists need a sound understanding of neurology from the cellular to the systems scale of man made systems and how to connect the two These scientists comprise medical scientists neurologists and physiologists engineers as well as biophysicists And they need the topics in a coherently written work with chapters building upon another Law, Culture and Identity in Central and Eastern Europe Cosmin Cercel, Alexandra Mercescu, Mirosław Michał Sadowski, 2023-12-01 Combining insights from comparative legal theory jurisprudence and legal history this collection examines the legal and constitutional identity of Central and Eastern Europe Although the various countries of Central and Eastern Europe have often compared themselves to the West the failure of these countries to engage with one another has resulted in a whole spectrum of legal identities remaining hidden This book takes up a comparison of such identities within the region of Central and Eastern Europe and following from the prima facie similarity between the region's countries given the experience of communism and legal transfers The book thereby illuminates through comparisons the distinct legal identities of the 16 Central and Eastern European states whilst at the same time arguing for a shared Central and Eastern European legal identity This book will appeal to scholars and students in the area of comparative law as well as lawyers political scientists sociologists and historians with particular interests in Central and Eastern Europe

Optical Absorption of Impurities and Defects in Semiconducting Crystals Bernard Pajot, Bernard Clerjaud, 2012-08-28 This book outlines with the help of several specific examples the important role played by absorption spectroscopy in the investigation of deep level centers introduced in semiconductors and insulators like diamond silicon germanium and gallium arsenide by high energy irradiation residual impurities and defects produced during crystal growth It also describes the crucial role played by vibrational spectroscopy to determine the atomic structure and symmetry of complexes associated with light impurities like hydrogen carbon nitrogen and oxygen and as a tool for quantitative analysis of these elements in the materials Reports on the Meteorological, Magnetic and Other Observatories of the Dominion of Canada Canada.

Meteorological Branch, 1909 Manufacturing a Socialist Modernity Kimberly Elman Zarecor, 2011-04-10 Eastern European prefabricated housing blocks are often vilified as the visible manifestations of everything that was wrong with state socialism For many inside and outside the region the uniformity of these buildings became symbols of the dullness and drudgery of everyday life Manufacturing a Socialist Modernity complicates this common perception Analyzing the cultural intellectual and professional debates surrounding the construction of mass housing in early postwar Czechoslovakia Zarecor shows that these housing blocks served an essential function in the planned economy and reflected an interwar aesthetic derived from constructivism and functionalism that carried forward into the 1950s With a focus on prefabricated and standardized housing built from 1945 to 1960 Zarecor offers broad and innovative insights into the country's transition from capitalism to state socialism She demonstrates that during this shift architects and engineers consistently strove to meet the needs of Czechs and Slovaks despite challenging economic conditions a lack of material resources and manufacturing and technological limitations In the process architects were asked to put aside their individual creative aspirations and transform themselves into technicians and industrial producers Manufacturing a Socialist Modernity is the first comprehensive history of architectural practice and the emergence of prefabricated housing in the Eastern Bloc Through discussions of individual architects and projects as well as building typologies professional associations and institutional organization it opens a rare window into the cultural and economic life of Eastern Europe during the early postwar period Against the Gates of Hell

Optical Properties of Diamond A.M. Zaitsev, 2013-03-09 The unique properties of diamond are responsible for its pre eminence as a gemstone and give it a glamour and attraction unprecedented for any other mineral As the first member of group IV of the periodic table of elements carbon in its crystalline form as diamond has also fascinated scientists for at least 300 years Many experimental techniques have been employed in the study of diamond and of these optical spectroscopy has proven one of the most fruitful The absorption line at 415 nm characteristic of Cape Yellow diamonds was first documented by Walter in 1891 Further work on this absorption now known as N3 by the Indian school under Sir C V Raman in the 1930s and 1940s led to a basic understanding of the system which they observed in both absorption and luminescence The N3 center is a structural defect in the diamond and the absorption of light occurs by exciting electrons in this defect from one well defined energy state to another When the electron returns to the original energy level luminescence is produced Detailed studies of natural diamonds over the subsequent 60 years have discovered large numbers of absorption and emission lines characteristic of different defects In 1904 Sir William Crookes showed that a colorless diamond could be turned green by long exposure to radium salts

Handbook of Spectral Lines in Diamond Bernhard Dischler, 2012-06-13

This handbook is a breakthrough in the understanding of the large number of spectral lines in diamond Data on more than 2000 lines and bands are presented in 200 tables including many unpublished results With a novel organization scheme the search for a specific line is greatly simplified as a benefit for researchers and students In order to meet the interest in the understanding of the spectra structure assignments for 80 % of the lines are given of which 15 % only were published before The majority of the structures for the 300 centers is explained in most cases for the first time A key instrument in the interpretation is the analysis by donor acceptor pair transitions In a special chapter 95 such centers are listed and discussed of which only two have been published before the first one by the present author in 1994
