governance from accounting practices and antitrust regulations to human rights law and environmental conservation In this study Ole Jacob Sending encourages a critical interrogation of the role and power of experts by unveiling the politics of the ongoing competition for authority in global governance Drawing on insights from sociology political science and institutional theory Sending challenges theories centered on particular actors authority whether it is the authority of so called epistemic communities the moral authority of advocacy groups or the rational legal authority of international organizations Using in depth and historically oriented case studies of population and peacebuilding he demonstrates that authority is not given nor located in any set of particular actors Rather continuous competition for recognition as an authority to determine what is to be governed by whom and for what purpose shapes global governance in fundamental ways Advancing a field based approach Sending highlights the political stakes disguised by the technical language of professionals and thus opens a broader public debate over the key issues of our time Federal and Indian Lands ,1978 Progress in Medicinal that it is characterized by localist tendencies and possesses a distinctive sense of place Approaching these propositions as memes that is group forming replicators Scott Romine argues that many of them developed in defense of slavery and evolved in its aftermath to continue to form a southern group whose way of life naturalized an emergent regime of segregation Following the civil rights era another set of mutations allowed the ostensible inclusion of groups heretofore excluded from the category southerner mostly through the conceptualization of a culture projected backward into time By attending closely to the historical formation and mutation of the things southerners have most often said that they are we can better understand the dynamic and dialogic process of group formation in the U S South Hearings and Reports on Atomic Energy United States.
