Historical Change in Serial Verb Constructions Carol Lord,1993-08-06 This work examines both historical and comparative evidence in documenting the sweep of diachronic change in the context of serial verb constructions Using a wide range of data from languages of West Africa Asia and the Caribbean it demonstrates how shifts in meaning and usage result in syntactic morphological and lexical change The process by which verbs lose lexical semantic content and develop case marking functions is described it is argued that the change is directional from verb to preposition or postposition to affix along a grammaticalization continuum This same grammaticalization process is shown to result in the development of complementizers adverbial subordinators conjunctions adverbs and auxiliaries from verbs Strong parallels across languages are found in the meanings of the verbs that become defective and in the functions they come to mark The changes are documented in detail with examples from a number of languages illustrating the effect of the changes on typology and word order implications for the encoding of definiteness and aspect and the relevance of notions such as discourse topic foreground and transitivity With respect to theoretical assumptions and terminology the author has taken a relatively nonpartisan approach and the discussion is accessible to students of language as well as of interest to theoreticians US

Taiwan Policy Øystein Tunsjø,2008-02-18 The relationship between the United States and China is one of the most important issues in the twenty first century and is ultimately hostage to conditions across the Taiwan Strait This book is the first to attempt to trace the historical origin of what is known as the Taiwan issue in US China relations from a constructivist perspective based on detailed archival research The analysis used supplements the mainstream rationalist approach by developing a new theoretical perspective on US Taiwan policy that incorporates constructivism s emphasis on identity norms and discourse analysis Scholars have never previously developed or elaborated upon this approach to any significant extent The book re examines the protection of Taiwan by military means following the outbreak of the Korean War and the establishment of the one China policy in relation to the process of rapprochement during President Nixon s first term in office It also considers the contemporary challenges posed to the one China policy by the increased importance of promoting human rights and democracy in US foreign policy arguing that the current US China policy is guided by a new strategy based on engagement plus hedging Handbook of Unemployment Insurance Financial Data, 1938-1976 United States.

Unemployment Insurance Service,1979 Pietism, Revivalism and Modernity, 1650-1850 Fred van Lieburg,Daniel Lindmark,2020-11-30 Pietism can be understood either as a specific German theological tradition emanating from late seventeenth century reformers as Spener and Francke or as a wider range of practical piety characterising early modern movements as Protestant Puritanism and Methodism as well as Catholic Jansenism Trying an inclusive definition an international network programme was set up resulting in a first conference in the Netherlands in 2004 which addressed the question whether Pietism was to be seen as a consequence of or a reaction to confessionalisation in the Reformation era A similar approach was chosen for a second conference held in the Swedish university town of Ume on November 17 18 2005 Should Pietism be perceived as a promoter of or a reaction against modernity Are revivals and awakenings to be seen as inherent components of Pietism Or should they rather be viewed as new sociological phenomena integrated into Pietism on a later stage Which components of pious theology and practice were applied and what function did they serve in clerical and civil discourse Either way how do revivals relate to Pietism and how do they relate to Enlightenment This volume presents the proceedings of an inspiring conference taking a further step in the globalisation of Pietism studies as is demonstrated here in particular by the power of research in the Nordic area Above all this collection of papers helps to understand Pietism and revivalism as attempts to resist the breakthrough of secularizing tendencies in the modern world While doing so they themselves at the same time were modern in building up a counteroffensive of rechristianization using all contemporary means of communication and organization in the public sphere adapting their own traditions to new political and cultural contexts and creating constructions of the religious past
