Synergetics A. Pacault, C. Vidal, 2012-12-06 This volume gathers most of the lectures and communications presented at the meeting held in Bordeaux from the 27th to the 29th of September and entitled Far from equilibrium instabilities and structures This meeting is part of a series of several other interdisciplinary conferences such as Elmau 1972 London 1974 Dortmund 1976 Elmau 1977 Tokyo 1978 The old science classification scheme proposed by Auguste Comte tends to be every day a bit more blurred out one gives here if needed one additional illustration of this trend The three key words far from equilibrium instabilities and structures best illustrate the new concepts which emerge from the description of the dynamics of various systems relevant to many different research areas Laser emission chemical reactions fluid motions exhibit very particular phenomena when under appropriate external action they occur far from equilibrium These proceedings include the experimental description of such phenomena as well as theoretical attempts in understanding them Most of the topics investigated here belong to the domains of physics and chemistry but one should be careful not to underestimate the underlying potential biological interest If the study of simple systems e.g. described by a few variables has been quite successful for several centuries the recent bearing of our attention on complex systems constitutes a genuine epistemological breakthrough bridging the gap which used to exist between the sciences and the humanism Enterprise Information

Systems Slimane Hammoudi, José Cordeiro, Leszek A. Maciaszek, Joaquim Filipe, 2014-07-24 This book contains substantially extended and revised versions of the best papers from the 15th International Conference on Enterprise Information Systems ICEIS 2013 held in Angers France in July 2013 The 29 full and two invited papers included in this volume were carefully reviewed and selected from 321 submissions They reflect state of the art research focusing mainly on real world applications and highlight the benefits of information systems and technology for industry and services thus connecting academia with the world of real enterprises The topics covered are databases and information systems integration artificial intelligence and decision support systems information systems analysis and specification software agents and Internet computing human computer interaction and enterprise architecture *California. Welsh, 2018-02-06 Learn how to overcome resolution limitations caused by atmospheric turbulence in Imaging Through Turbulence This hands on book thoroughly discusses the nature of turbulence effects on optical imaging systems techniques used to overcome these effects performance analysis methods and representative examples of performance Neatly pulling together widely scattered material it covers Fourier and statistical optics turbulence effects on imaging systems simulation of turbulence effects and correction techniques speckle imaging adaptive optics and hybrid imaging Imaging Through Turbulence is written in tutorial style logically guiding you through these essential topics It helps you bring down to earth the complexities of coping with turbulence Amorphous Metals and Semiconductors P. Haasen, R. I. Jaffee, 2013-10-22 Amorphous Metals and Semiconductors contains the proceedings of an international workshop held at Coronado California USA on May 12 18 1985 Organized into five parts this book first looks into the historical perspective on semiconductors and metals This book then explains the glass formation magnetic glasses and amorphous semiconductors The mechanical and chemical properties of these materials are also given Software Product Lines: Going Beyond Jan Bosch, Jaejoon Lee, 2010-08-30 This volume constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 14th International Software Product Line Conference SPLC 2010 held on Jeju Island South Korea in September 2010 Progress in Medical Radiation Physics Colin Orton, 2013-06-29 New developments in the application of radiation to medicine are occurring so rapidly that this is possibly the fastest growing branch of medicine today In the past decade alone we have seen enormous progress made in techniques used both for the diagnosis of disease such as computerized tomography digital radiography ultrasonography computerized nuclear medicine scanning and nuclear magnetic resonance imaging and for its treatment such as the radiotherapeutic utilization of high LET radiations and the widespread application of computers to perform elegant dosimetry calculations for 3 D treatment planning and imaging This series will provide in depth reviews of the many spectacular technical advances and sophisticated concepts which are developing in medical radiation physics at such an alarming rate that it has become increasingly difficult to keep one's knowledge up to date These comprehensive review articles will help to bridge the communications gap between the international research community and the medical physicists and physicians whose responsibility it is to put these advances into clinical use These articles should also be of value to the increasing number of physical scientists and engineers who are interested in the application of their knowledge and talents to the field of medicine Lasers in Photomedicine and Photobiology R. Pratesi, C. A. Sacchi, 2013-11-11 This Conference on biomedical applications of lasers has organized by the Quantum Electronics Divisional Board of the European Physical Society EPS and held at the Villa of Poggio Imperiale in Florence September 3 6 1979 As known laser surgery especially microsurgery and endoscopic photo coagulation has recently made important progress and the field is expanding rapidly. Very significant applications of lasers have also been achieved in Biology during recent years: cell microsurgery, cell counting and sorting, cytofluorimeter devices etc. and the potential of laser techniques in this field is not sufficiently well established. A new class of applications of laser radiation in Medicine has recently been made possible by important results obtained with low intensity non-coagulative visible lasers such as photodynamic therapy of tumors. At the same time, important branches of Medicine where light effects are studied and optical techniques are presently used for a certain number of clinical applications such as dermatology and pediatrics appear to be still in their infancy as far as the proper use of optical radiation and techniques and the understanding of fundamental photoinduced biological processes are concerned. Moreover, laser photobiology appears a very promising field for the investigation of fundamental processes at the biomolecular level.

Propagation and

Distribution of Food Fishes, 1941 Investigations of Field Dynamics in Laser Plasmas with Proton Imaging Thomas Sokollik, 2011-01-12. Laser-driven proton beams are still in their infancy but already have some outstanding attributes compared to those produced in conventional accelerators. One such attribute is the typically low beam emittance. This allows excellent resolution in imaging applications like proton radiography. This thesis describes a novel imaging technique: the proton streak camera that the author developed and first used to measure both the spatial and temporal evolution of ultra-strong electrical fields in laser-driven plasmas. Such investigations are of paramount importance for the understanding of laser-plasma interactions and thus for optimization of laser-driven particle acceleration. In particular, the present work investigated micrometer-sized spherical targets after laser irradiation. The confined geometry of plasmas and fields was found to influence the kinetic energy and spatial distribution of accelerated ions. This could be shown both in experimental radiography images and in numerical simulations, one of which was selected for the cover page of Physical Review Letters. Carcinogenesis Abstracts, 1976-12 Journal of the National Cancer Institute National Cancer Institute (U.S.), 1978 *Fifteenth Census of the United States, 1930.
