21985125:

Theophrastus Johannes M. van Ophuijsen, Marlein van Raalte, 2020-12-17 Theophrastus was Aristotle's pupil and second head of the Peripatetic School. Apart from two botanical works, a collection of character sketches and several scientific opuscula, his works survive only through quotations and reports in secondary sources. Recently these quotations and reports have been collected and published, thereby making the thought of Theophrastus accessible to a wide audience. The present volume contains seventeen responses to this material. There are chapters dealing with Theophrastus' views on logic, physics, biology, ethics, politics, rhetoric, and music, as well as the life of Theophrastus. Together these writings throw considerable light on fundamental questions concerning the development and importance of the Peripatos in the early Hellenistic period. The authors consider whether Theophrastus was a systematic thinker who imposed coherence and consistency on a growing body of knowledge, or a problem-oriented thinker who foreshadowed the dissolution of Peripatetic thought into various loosely connected disciplines. Of special interest are those essays which deal with Theophrastus' intellectual position in relation to the lively philosophic scene occupied by such contemporaries as Zeno, the founder of the Stoa, and Epicurus, the founder of the Garden, as well as Xenocrates and Polemon of the Academy, and Theophrastus' fellow Peripatetics Eudemus and Strato. The contributors to the volume are Suzanne Amigues, Antonio Battezzato, Tiziano Dorandi, Woldemar Gorier, John Glucker, Hans Gottschalk, Frans de Haas, Andre Laks, Anthony Long, Jorgen Mejer, Mario Mignucci, Trevor Saunders, Dirk Schenkeveld, David Sedley, Robert Sharples, C. M. J. Sicking, and Richard Sorabji. The Rutgers University Studies in Classical Humanities series is a forum for seminal thinking in the field of philosophy, and this volume is no exception. Theophrastus is a landmark achievement in intellectual thought. Philosophers, historians, and classicists will all find this work to be enlightening. Information Processing, 1986. California. Court of Appeal (1st Appellate District). Records and Briefs California (State)., Received document entitled REVISED TABLE OF AUTHORITIES. Victorian Children's Literature Ruth Y. Jenkins, 2016-09-22 This book reveals how the period's transforming identities, affected by social, economic, religious, and national energies, offers rich opportunities in which to analyze the relationship between identity and transformation. At the heart of this study is this question: what is the relationship between Victorian children's literature, its readers, and their psychic development? Ruth Y. Jenkins uses Julia Kristeva's theory of abjection to uncover the presence of cultural anxieties and social tensions in works by Kingsley, MacDonald, Carroll, Stevenson, Burnett, Ballantyne, Nesbit, Tucker, Sewall, and Rossetti. Materials and medicine Pratik Chakrabarti, 2017-03-01 Medicine was transformed in the eighteenth century. Aligning the trajectories of intellectual and material wealth, this book uncovers how medicine acquired a new materialism, as well as new materials, in the context of global commerce and warfare. Bringing together a wide range of sources, this book argues that the intellectual developments in European medicine were inextricably linked to histories of conquest, colonization, and the establishment of colonial institutions. This is the first book to trace the links between colonialism and medicine on such a geographical and conceptual scale Chakrabarti examines the texts plants minerals colonial hospitals dispensaries and the works of surgeons missionaries and travellers to demonstrate that these were shaped by the material constitution of eighteenth century European colonialism This book will appeal to experts and students in histories of medicine science and imperialism as well as south Asian and Caribbean history

Computer Vision - ECCV 2002 Anders Heyden, Gunnar Sparr, Mads Nielsen, Peters Johansen, 2003-08-02 Premiering in 1990 in Antibes France the European Conference on Computer Vision ECCV has been held biennially at venues all around Europe These conferences have been very successful making ECCV a major event to the computer vision community ECCV 2002 was the seventh in the series The privilege of organizing it was shared by three universities The IT University of Copenhagen the University of Copenhagen and Lund University with the conference venue in Copenhagen These universities lie geographically close in the vivid Oresund region which lies partly in Denmark and partly in Sweden with the newly built bridge opened summer 2000 crossing the sound that formerly divided the countries We are very happy to report that this year s conference attracted more papers than ever before with around 600 submissions Still together with the conference board we decided to keep the tradition of holding ECCV as a single track conference Each paper was anonymously refereed by three different reviewers For the first time for ECCV a system with area chairs was used These met with the program chairs in Lund for two days in February 2002 to select what became 45 oral presentations and 181 posters Also at this meeting the selection was made without knowledge of the authors identity

English Gothic Misericord Carvings Betsy Chunko-Dominguez, 2017-03-06 English Gothic Misericord Carvings History from the Bottom Up by Betsy Chunko Dominguez is the first book to move beyond textual dependence and traditional iconographic analysis when examining misericords It likewise builds the most thorough discussion to date of the relationship between the misericord s several potential audiences including patron craftsman occupant of the seat and modern viewer Beyond the bounds of misericord studies there are implications here for study of the relationship between center and margin in late medieval art and indeed what constitutes center and margin as conceptual realms Ultimately this book attempts both to re integrate the study of misericords into the study of Gothic art in general and to re center them in relation to our understanding of late medieval culture

Transnational Perspective Axel Körner, Paulo M. Kühl, 2022-03-24 This volume of essays discusses the European and global expansion of Italian opera and the significance of this process for debates on opera at home in Italy Covering different parts of Europe the Americas Southeast and East Asia it investigates the impact of transnational musical exchanges on notions of national identity associated with the production and reception of Italian opera across the world As a consequence of these exchanges between composers impresarios musicians and audiences ideas of operatic Italianness Italianity constantly changed and had to be reconfigured reflecting the radically transformative experience of time and space that throughout the nineteenth century turned opera into a global aesthetic commodity The book opens with a substantial introduction discussing key concepts in cross disciplinary perspective and concludes with an epilogue relating its findings to different historiographical trends in transnational opera studies Exile and Social Thought Lee Congdon,2014-07-14 Embroiled in the political events surrounding World War I and the failed Hungarian revolutions of 1918-19 a number of intellectuals fled Hungary for Germany and Austria where they essentially created Weimar culture Among them were Georg Lukács whose History and Class Consciousness recast Marxism and challenged even those who repudiated its politics Bela Balázs who pioneered film theory and collaborated with film makers G.W. Pabst, Leni Riefenstahl and Alexander Korda László Moholy-Nagy who codirected the Bauhaus during its heyday in the mid 1920s and Karl Mannheim whose Ideology and Utopia was the most widely discussed work of noncommunist social theory during the Weimar years In this collective portrait combining intellectual history with biographical detail Lee Congdon describes how Hungarian thinkers each in a different way passionately advocated the need for community in a Europe torn by war and revolution Whether communist avant-gardist or Catholic convert each thinker is examined within the vast tapestry of his works his cultural and intellectual milieu and his experience as an exile Despite the ideological differences of these men Congdon reveals how their personal destinies and social goals often merged Since many were assimilated Jews he argues that their thinking on society was inextricably intertwined with their youthful sensitivity to anti-Semitism in Hungary and with the isolating limitations of their lives in Germany and Austria Originally published in 1991 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print-on-demand technology to again make available previously out-of-print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Power and Place in the North American West Richard White,John M. Findlay,2012-09-01 Western historians continue to seek new ways of understanding the particular mixture of physical territory, human actions, outside influences and unique expectations that has made the North American West what it is today This collection of twelve essays tackles the subject of power and place from several angles Indians and non-Indians, race and gender, environment and economy to gain insight into major forces at work during two centuries of western history The essays related to one another by their concern with how power is exercised in, over and by western places cover a wide range of times and topics from 18th century Spanish New Mexico to 19th century British Columbia to 20th century Sun Valley and Los Angeles They encompass analyses of the concept and rhetoric of race, theoretical speculations on gender and powerlessness and insights on the causes of current environmental crises

Human-Computer Interaction and Management Information Systems: Applications. Advances in Management Information Systems Dennis F. Galletta, Yahong Zhang, 2014-12-18 Human Computer Interaction and Management Information Systems Applications offers state of the art research by a distinguished set of authors who span the MIS and HCI fields The original chapters provide authoritative commentaries and in depth descriptions of research programs that will guide 21st century scholars graduate students and industry professionals Human Computer Interaction or Human Factors in MIS is concerned with the ways humans interact with information technologies and tasks especially in business managerial organizational and cultural contexts It is distinctive in many ways when compared with HCI studies in other disciplines The MIS perspective affords special importance to managerial and organizational contexts by focusing on analysis of tasks and outcomes at a level that considers organizational effectiveness With the recent advancement of technologies and development of many sophisticated applications human centeredness in MIS has become more critical than ever before This work focuses on applications and evaluations including special case studies specific contexts or tasks HCI methodological concerns and the use and adoption process

Process Philosophy and Political Ideology Randall C. Morris, 1991-01-01 This book fills a significant gap in current process scholarship by providing a detailed exposition of Whitehead's and Hartshorne's social and political writings reconstructing their ideological commitments in depth and placing them in their historical context It focuses on four areas of inquiry the individual and society the ideals of freedom equality and democracy the use of coercive force within and between societies and the theory of social progress As each feature of their political thought is examined Morris shows how Whitehead's and Hartshorne's political commitments are reflected in their metaphysical principles

Aesthetic Technologies of Modernity, Subjectivity, and Nature Richard Leppert, 2015-10-06 Virginia Woolf famously claimed that around December 1910 human character changed Aesthetic Technologies addresses how music especially opera the phonograph and film served as cultural agents facilitating the many extraordinary social artistic and cultural shifts that characterized the new century and much of what followed long thereafter even to the present Three tropes are central the tensions and traumas cultural social and personal associated with modernity changes in human subjectivity and its engagement and representation in music and film and the more general societal impact of modern media sound recording the development of the phonograph in particular and the critical role played by early century opera recording A principal focus of the book is the conflicted relationship in Western modernity to nature particularly as nature is perceived in opposition to culture and articulated through music film and sound as agents of fundamental sometimes shocking transformation The book considers the sound vision world of modernity filtered through the lens of aesthetic modernism and rapid technological change and the impact of both experienced with the prescient sense that there could be
