Lippincott's Gazetteer of the World Joseph Thomas,1902 Patterns of Economic Change by State and Area 2014 Mary Meghan Ryan,2014-12-10 Patterns of Economic Change by State and Area Income Employment and Gross Domestic Product is a special edition of Business Statistics of the United States and a new addition to the Bernan Press library of reference titles This title presents data on personal income employment and gross domestic product for the United States as a whole and by region state and metropolitan statistical area MSA Data on personal income and employment extends back to 1958 for the states and regions and to 1969 for the MSAs Patterns of Economic Change complements other Bernan Press titles such as the State and Metropolitan Area Data Book and County and City Extra In contrast to their predominantly current and detailed cross section data on states and metropolitan areas this book contributes historical time series measurements of key aggregates that show how the economies of regions states and metropolitan areas have responded over time to cyclical currents and long term trends Statistics at the state level provide a framework for analyzing current economic conditions in each state and can serve as a basis for decision making For example Federal government agencies use the statistics as a basis for allocating funds and determining matching grants to states The statistics are also used in forecasting models to project energy and water use State governments use the statistics to project tax revenues and the need for public services Academic regional economists use the statistics for applied research Businesses trade associations and labor organizations use the statistics for market research The second edition includes information on 381 MSAs more than in the previous edition and new figures on income and poverty Foreign Trade Through the Los Angeles and San Diego Customs Districts Bank of America,1965 Catalog, Columbia Records Columbia Recording Corporation, □□□□ ,2002 1980 Census of Population and Housing: General population and migration tables ,1985 Importers and Exporters in Taiwan, Republic of China ,2001 World Trade Annual United Nations. Statistical Office,1999 The Social Context of Technological Change Andrew J. Shortland,2016-12-16 The technological capabilities of the ancient world have long fascinated scholars and the general public alike though scholarly debate has often seen material culture not as the development of technology but as a tool for defining chronology and delineating the level of interactions of neighboring societies These fourteen papers arising from a conference held in Oxford in September 2000 take the approach that technology plays a vital role in past socioeconomic systems They cover the Near East and associated areas including Greece Crete Cyprus Anatolia the Levant Mesopotamia and Egypt from the end of the Middle Bronze Age to the Late Bronze Age 1650 1150 BC a period when many technological innovations appear for the first time Islamic Glass in the Making Nadine Schibille,2022-03-31 New insights into the history of Islamic glassmaking The ancient glass industry changed dramatically towards the end of the first millennium The Roman glassmaking tradition of mineral soda glass was increasingly supplanted by the use of plant ash as the main fluxing agent at the turn of the ninth century CE Defining primary production groups of plant ash glass has been a challenge due to the high variability of raw materials and the smaller scale of production Islamic Glass in the Making advocates a large scale archaeometric approach to the history of Islamic glassmaking to trace the developments in the production trade and consumption of vitreous materials between the eighth and twelfth centuries and to separate the norm from the exception It proposes compositional discriminants to distinguish regional production groups and provides insights into the organisation of the glass industry and commerce during the early Islamic period The interdisciplinary approach leads to a holistic understanding of the development of Islamic glass assemblages from the early Islamic period in Mesopotamia Central Asia Egypt Greater Syria and Iberia are evaluated and placed in the larger geopolitical context In doing so this book fills a gap in the present literature and advances a large scale approach to the history of Islamic glass

Ancient Mesopotamian Materials and Industries Peter Roger Stuart Moorey, 1999 This is the first systematic attempt to survey in detail the archaeological evidence for the crafts and craftsmanship of the Sumerians Babylonians and Assyrians in ancient Mesopotamia covering the period ca 8000-300 B C E As creators of some of the earliest farming and urban communities known to us these people were among the first pioneers of many crafts and skills that remain fundamental to modern ways of life Many of the raw materials for crafts had to be imported from outside the river valley of the Tigris and Euphrates providing an unusually sensitive indicator of the commercial and cultural contacts of Mesopotamia In this book Dr Moorey reviews briefly the textual evidence and then goes on to examine in detail the material evidence for a wide range of crafts using stones both common and ornamental animal products from hippopotamus ivory to ostrich egg shells ceramics glazed materials and glass metals and building materials With a comprehensive bibliography this will be a key work of reference for archaeologists and those interested in the early history of crafts and technology as well as for specialist historians of the ancient Near East

Vitreous Materials at Amarna Andrew J. Shortland, 2000 The earliest vitreous materials in Egypt date to c 4000 BC although the production of glass faience frit or Egyptian blue does not really take off until the 18th dynasty Andrew Shortland combines descriptions of various objects made from vitreous materials with an analysis of the processes and techniques used in their production

Markets for Water K. William Easter, M.W. Rosegrant, Ariel Dinar, 1998-09-30 Markets for Water Potential and Performance dispels many of the myths surrounding water markets and gives readers a comprehensive picture of the way that markets have developed in different parts of the world It is possible for example for a water market to fail and for the transaction costs in water markets to be excessive Too often water trading is banned because the water resources have been developed with public funds and the water agencies do not want to lose control over water There is also a concern that poor farmers or households will be disadvantaged by water trading These concerns about public resources and the poor are not very different from those that have been voiced in the past about land sales The problem is that in many cases the poor already have limited access to resources but this limit is not due to water trading In fact water trading is likely to expand the access to water for many small scale farmers Markets for Water Potential and Performance provides an analytical framework for water market establishment It develops the necessary conditions for water markets and illustrates how they can improve both water management and economic efficiency Finally the book gives readers an up to date picture of what we have learned about water markets in a wide range of countries from the US to Chile and India
