Annual Report Railroad Commission of Texas, 1924 The Official Guide to Hotels and Restaurants in Great Britain and Ireland, 1969 The Ageing Brain Perminder S. Sachdev, 2005-09-20 When confronted with a neurological or psychiatric disorder in an elderly individual a clinician or researcher is likely to ask how the processes of ageing have influenced the aetiology and presentation of the disorder and will impact on its efficient management There are many urban myths about ageing and some of these apply to the brain The reviews included in this book are an attempt to flush out some of these myths and arm the clinician and general researcher with the empirical facts that can be mustered to substantiate claims about ageing There are many salient questions is cognitive change to be expected in an elderly individual Is this change progressive relentless and unselective or is it focal and constrained Would every person who lived long enough develop Alzheimer's disease Do our neurones die as we get old What happens to the size of the brain and its metabolic activity How do our hormones change with age Can anti oxidants slow or even stop the process of ageing Are genes important in the ageing brain or is it all in the environment How much of what we are is due to what we eat The contributors to this book each an expert in their field have addressed some of these questions in a language simple enough for a general reader to understand The book also deals with some of the most prominent brain disorders of old age Alzheimer's disease Parkinson's disease vascular dementia and depression The focus is on the impact of ageing on these disorders The discussions lay out a broad map for the clinician dealing with neuropsychiatric disorders and the future researcher of brain ageing In a field in which the developments are too numerous for any one individual to keep pace with this book presents up to date summaries that can be a useful starting point The field of brain ageing abounds in tabloid science This book counters this by providing a strong empirical grounding and considered synthesis of the research Bibliographie de la France, ou Journal général de l'imprimerie et de la librairie Adrien Jean Quentin Beuchot,1886 2009,

Rational Suicide in the Elderly Robert E. McCue, Meera Balasubramaniam, 2016-10-27 This book provides a comprehensive view of rational suicide in the elderly a group that has nearly twice the rate of suicide when chronically ill than any other demographic Its frame of reference does not endorse a single point of view about the legitimacy of rational suicide which is evolving across societies with little guidance for geriatric mental health professionals Instead it serves as a resource for both those clinicians who agree that older people may rationally commit suicide and those who believe that this wish may require further assessment and treatment The first chapters of the book provides an overview of rational suicide in the elderly examining it through history and across cultures also addressing the special case of baby boomers This book takes an ethical and philosophical look at whether suicide can truly be rational and whether the nearness of death in late life adults means that suicide should be considered differently than in younger adults Clinical criteria for rational suicide in the elderly are proposed in this book for the first time as well as a guidelines for the psychosocial profile of an older adult who wants to commit rational suicide Unlike any other book this text examines the existential psychological and psychodynamic perspectives A chapter on terminal mental illness and a consideration of suicide in that context and proposed interventions even without a diagnosable mental illness also plays a vital role in this book as these are key issues in within the question of suicide among the elderly This book is the first to consider all preventative measures including the spiritual as well as the psychotherapeutic and pharmacologic A commentary on modern society aging and rational suicide that ties all of these elements together making this the ultimate guide for addressing suicide among the elderly Rational Suicide in the Elderly is an excellent resource for all medical professionals with potentially suicidal patients including geriatricians geriatric and general psychiatrists geriatric nurses social workers and public health officials 1971
