

Description

The SE9135 is a low dropout current regulator rated for 350mA constant sink current. The constant sink current will ensure that the same amount of power is applied to the power LED and consequently maintain the uniform brightness throughout the possible voltage variations from the power source. The IC also features low quiescent current and is typically at 212uA. This will minimize the power consumption from the IC itself.

The IC has EN function built-in for applications where EN function or Dim function is needed. Please contact us directly if EN function is required.

SE9135 is presently available in low profile SOT-89-3L and TO-252 packages.
