Smith, 1990-01-01 Here is a unique analysis of Carl Jung's thought from the perspective of the history of religions Using a religious and historical approach the author identifies the religious goal or ultimate concern of Jung's psychological system and traces the evolution of that goal throughout his Collected Works This book focuses on the historical development of a key component of Jung's thought the quest for wholeness and shows how it functions as the ultimate concern of his psychotherapeutic system The relationships among many of Jung's important concepts such as his complex theory the individuation process archetypal symbolism therapeutic concerns alchemy and Eastern religions are given a new sense of order and significance when viewed in this historical light Rather than presenting a haphazard array of seemingly endless topics this work emphasizes the continuity underlying Jung's early and later writings The evolution of Jung's work is divided into three distinct phases developmental formative and elaborative Whereas the developmental period consists of the time prior to the creation of Jung's ultimate concern it was during the formative phase that Jung began to consolidate the contours of his newly emerging system During the elaborative phase Jung expanded and clarified his ultimate concern and pattern of ultimacy This book shows that the evolution of Jung's thought moved from a concern with psychic fragmentation to individual wholeness and then to cosmic unity      Chronological Tables of Universal History Nicolas Lenglet Dufresnoy,1762

Biochemical Messengers D. Hardie,2013-12-01 The central theme of this book is that systems of cell cell signalling via nerves hormones local mediators and growth factors are not distinct phenomena but branches of one general mechanism These topics therefore can and should be discussed in an integrated manner and the division of cell signalling studies into separate pigeonholes such as neuroscience endocrinology or cancer biology is unnecessary if not counterproductive I also believe it to be unfortunate that there is not a collective term to describe neurotransmitters hormones local mediators and growth factors other than clumsy phrases such as extracellular signal molecule The lack of a short and distinctive word for these entities genuinely hampers people from thinking about them in an integrated way Having decided that it was presumptuous to invent a new term I have chosen in this book the term first messenger to cover all types of extracellular signal molecule because of the widespread acceptance of the term second messenger to represent the intracellular signal molecules that are produced in response to many of them I have given the book the title biochemical messengers which is a global term to cover both first and second messengers The impetus for writing the book came as must often be the case when I had to put together a course on cell cell signalling for biochemistry students at the University of Dundee      Hearings
